Dr. Jeemann,

Your insolence in leaving our Company will not be taken lightly.

You created, knowingly, a technology to enter one's consciousness, and then disappeared for 6 months, on a company funded romp in The Keys. We found your office, your documentation, and your diary. Effective immediately, your employment is terminated with the Octagon Company, and we will be mailing your belongings to your last known address.

Under no circumstances are you permitted to have contact with anyone from the Company, and we wish not to hear from you moving forward, UNLESS, you are willing to divulge how it is you managed to find this information out so quickly, and how one can manage our subjects while they are asleep. You alone, created this machine, and only you know how to operate it.

Each one of the participants, April Stanford, Maverik Adams, Xander Oahul, Alexis Johann, Jackson Stevenson, and Ryan REDACTED, have all been in cryostasis since childhood.

We need to know how to wake them up safely, so as not to hurt them. They contain information that is vital to our operation. We need to know how it feels when the brain takes over executive function when in that deep of sleep.

Dr. Jeemann, I'm not a woman to beg, but I implore you to reach out to us, if you wish not to see us in court.

We hope to hear from you soon, should you choose to cooperate.

Regards,

Candace Stetler
